

Zones of Regulation THIS WEEK'S LEARNING

YELLOW ZONE

This week in assembly, we continued our journey through the Zones of Regulation, focusing on the Yellow Zone. We explored some of the feelings we might experience when we are in the Yellow Zone, including excitement, worry, confusion, silliness and frustration. We also thought about what happens inside our bodies when we experience these emotions. Does our heart beat faster? Do we get butterflies in our tummy? Do we feel fidgety or find it difficult to concentrate?

To help us explore this further, I shared Joey's brand-new book, Joey Learns to be a Big Brother.

The story follows Emily, who discovers she is going to become a big sister, and Joey, who learns that a new puppy will soon be joining his family. Although everyone around them is excited, both Emily and Joey experience some rather different feelings. They are worried about what might change and whether there will still be enough love for them.

Together, we explored how Emily and Joey began to notice their feelings and the signals their bodies were giving them. We talked about how Emily used the feelings board to help name her emotions, how Ms Ali listened and helped her make sense of them and how cuddling Joey brought her comfort.

One of the most important messages we discussed was that we can experience more than one feeling at the same time. We might be excited about something new but worried about it too. And that is absolutely okay!

This links beautifully to what we are teaching the children through the Zones of Regulation:

NOTICE - What am I feeling? What is happening in my body?

NAME - Can I find the words to describe my feelings?

THINK - What might help me?

HAVE A GO - Can I try something that might help me manage how I am feeling?

We reminded the children that no Zone is a bad Zone. All feelings are normal, and the important thing is learning to recognise them, understand them and know what we can do when we need support.

Introducing Joey's New Book!

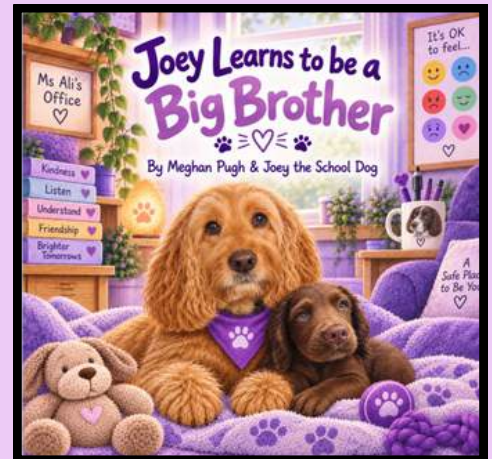

I am also delighted to officially launch the latest book in Joey's School Journey series, Joey Learns to be a Big Brother! Inspired by real experiences and, of course, Joey himself, this story explores change, uncertainty, love and belonging. It also includes a special tribute to George, the original school dog, who taught Joey so much about kindness, patience and helping others feel safe.

At its heart is a simple but powerful message: love does not get smaller when someone new arrives. It grows.

I hope the story will encourage lots of lovely conversations at home, whether your child is preparing for a new sibling, experiencing a change or simply learning to understand their feelings.

Perhaps this weekend you could ask your child what they remember about Emily and Joey, and what helped them when they were feeling worried.

After all, learning to understand our feelings is an important part of growing up, and sometimes all we need is someone to listen, a little reassurance and, if we are lucky, a cuddle from Joey!

Reception

What a wonderful first four weeks we have had in Reception! The children have settled in so well and have already made lots of new friends. Our big question this half term is "Who Am I?", and we have been exploring this in lots of practical and creative ways.

We have been learning all about ourselves and what makes us special. We have talked about what we look like, where we are from, our favourite things and how everyone is different. We have painted our own self-portraits and used a range of materials to create different hairstyles, thinking carefully about what makes each of us unique. We have also drawn our families using different materials and created collages of our homes, sharing ideas about the people and places that are important to us.

We have been enjoying lots of learning outdoors too! As we begin to notice the changes that come with autumn, we have explored leaves, conkers and other natural objects. We even used conkers for counting, helping us to practise recognising numbers and counting carefully. In maths, we have been learning about numbers to 5, making our own number lines and matching numerals to the correct number of objects.

Our early reading and writing journey has begun, learning our phonics sounds, practising blending sounds together and beginning to read simple words. We have also been working hard on our handwriting, pencil control and letter formation, taking pride in our developing writing.

We have had some very special reading experiences too. Our Year 5 reading buddies have been visiting us to share stories, and we were very excited to be paid a visit from Joey, who read a story to us!

Most importantly, Reception have been learning how to be kind, share, take turns, help one another and build friendships. There have been lots of smiles, laughter, creativity and new experiences along the way. We are so proud of how much the children have grown in confidence already and can't wait to see what the rest of our "Who Am I?" journey brings!

YR4

Year 4 went on a musical adventure into the rainforest! Using body percussion and tuned percussion instruments, the children explored how to create rhythms, melodies and sounds inspired by the sights and sounds of the rainforest. From rhythmic claps and stamps to musical patterns played on instruments, they worked together to bring their rainforest soundscapes to life. It was a wonderful day full of creativity, collaboration and musical exploration, with Year 4 making some truly wild music!

Keeping Our School Safe

Introducing Team SOS

Next week, we will be carrying out another lockdown practice as part of our ongoing commitment to keeping everyone at Downsview safe.

We have recently introduced a new whole school communication system called Team SOS, as part of our ongoing work to strengthen school safety and emergency preparedness, taking account of Martyn's Law (the Terrorism (Protection of Premises) Act 2025).

The system allows us to send important messages directly to staff through an app, with notifications appearing on classroom laptops or staff phones, accompanied by an alert sound. Similar to the Government's emergency alert system, it is designed to quickly get people's attention.

However, Team SOS will not just be used for emergencies. We intend to make it a familiar part of everyday school life, using it to communicate messages that affect several classes or the whole school. For example, we might use it to announce wet play, a cancelled assembly, a change to the school timetable or a weather warning.

When an alert sounds, the expectation is simple: children stop, listen to their teacher and follow the instructions given. The teacher will read the message and explain what everyone needs to do.

By using the system regularly for ordinary school messages, we hope to remove some of the uncertainty or anxiety children might otherwise associate with hearing an alert. The sound itself will become familiar and children will learn that it simply means there is some important information to listen to and instructions to follow.

During next week's lockdown practice, staff will calmly guide children through the procedures, just as they would during a fire drill. The emphasis will be on listening carefully, following instructions and knowing that the adults around them are there to keep them safe.

Our aim is not to frighten children, but to help them feel prepared, confident and reassured. By making these alerts a normal part of school life, we hope children will respond calmly and confidently, whether the message is about a change to playtime arrangements or an important safety procedure.

As with so much of what we do at Downsview, familiarity, consistency and practice are key.

Help Downsview!

PLEASE

HELP

We are very lucky to have such a supportive school community and we are always incredibly grateful for the generosity of our Downsview families.

As schools continue to work within increasingly tight budgets, each year we invite families who are able to do so to make a voluntary contribution to our School Fund.

These contributions help us provide additional resources and opportunities for the children.

This year, we would love to raise funds for additional equipment for our outdoor learning areas, helping us to make these spaces even more exciting and engaging for our children.

We suggest a voluntary contribution of £30 per family, although any contribution you are able to make would be very gratefully received.

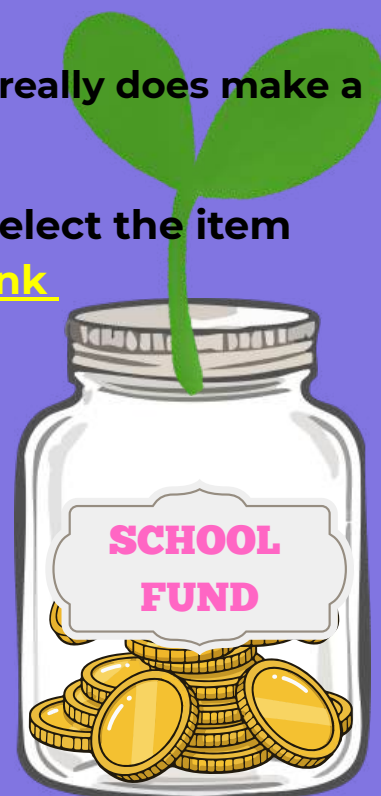

Contributions can be made online through Magicbooking.

Thank you for your continued support – every contribution really does make a difference!

Brazil slashed deforestation to a historic low

Deforestation alerts in the Brazilian Amazon have fallen to their lowest level in 13 years, according to new satellite data.

INPE, Brazil's National Institute for Space Research, detected alerts covering 2,874 sq km (1,110 square miles) in the 12 months to 31 July this year.

That's down by more than a third compared with the previous 12 months, and 55.6% below the average for the last decade.

The figures come from Brazil's DETER satellite monitoring system, which provides rapid alerts about areas where forest loss is taking place. The country's definitive annual deforestation figures, calculated using a separate system called PRODES, are due later in the year.

If that data follows the same trend, Brazil could record its lowest annual Amazon deforestation rate since monitoring began in 1988.

The news follows determined efforts by Brazilian president Luiz Inácio Lula da Silva to crack down on illegal rainforest clearance through improved enforcement and monitoring.

Lula's government has also moved to protect swathes of Indigenous lands, seen as a key measure for tackling illegal mining and logging.

Brazil is aiming for zero deforestation by 2030, a target that campaigners increasingly believe is within reach.

Marcio Astrini, executive secretary of Brazil's Observatório do Clima, a coalition of climate action stakeholders, said: "The numbers presented today are historic, the result of serious environmental protection policies, and prove that it is entirely possible to fulfill the commitment made by the country to zero and reverse deforestation by 2030."

Pupil Wellbeing Conversations

Talking to a pupil about their wellbeing can feel daunting, but staff don't need to be specialists to make a meaningful difference. This #WakeUpWednesday guide explores how warm, trusting relationships and a safe environment can help pupils feel able to share their worries, alongside practical considerations such as choosing an appropriate place and making conversations feel less intense.

The guide also explains how to approach confidentiality honestly, respond calmly when a pupil discloses something concerning and involve them appropriately in what happens next. With practical conversation starters and reminders about seeking safeguarding and personal support, it offers educators clear, reassuring guidance for listening carefully and helping pupils feel heard.

Do we need AI wherever we go

Meta has created the Muse Charm, a small device that can fit in a pocket or hang from a keyring. The Charm uses Muse, Meta's artificial intelligence (AI), so people can talk to it, ask it questions, and show it what is happening around them. It is designed for adults over the age of 18, and Meta aims to have the new device ready to buy by December.

Things to talk about at home...

- Do you use any AI at home or school at the moment?
- When do you think technology can be helpful in our everyday lives?
- What rules might help people use an AI companion safely?
- Talk to someone older at home about what it was like to find information out before the internet, AI and other similar technologies.

CELEBRATING BRITISH FOOD FORTNIGHT AT PABULUM

Monday 28th September - Friday 9th October

British Food Fortnight is an annual celebration of Britain's farmers, growers, producers and the fantastic food they provide.

At Pabulum, we're proud to serve fresh, seasonal and responsibly sourced ingredients every day. This British Food Fortnight, we're shining a spotlight on some of the British produce featured across our menus and the farmers, growers and suppliers who help bring it from farm to fork.

What's in Season This Autumn?

Autumn brings an abundance of British produce, including:

- Apples
- Potatoes
- Butternut squash
- Cauliflower
- Carrots
- Pears
- Onions

By choosing seasonal ingredients, we can maximise freshness and flavour while supporting British agriculture.

This autumn, seasonal favourites such as potatoes, carrots, cauliflower and butternut squash can be found across our menus, from roast dinners and vegetable sides to pasta dishes and even some of our desserts.

British Produce on Our Menus

Keep an eye out for some of these British-grown ingredients appearing in your child's meals over the coming weeks:

Crispy Roast Potatoes

Many of the potatoes we serve are grown at Fairfields Farm in Essex, providing the perfect accompaniment to our roast dinners.

Spiced Roasted Cauliflower

Our cauliflower is often sourced from Boundary Farm in Wingham, Kent, where grower Trevor Bradley produces quality seasonal vegetables.

Pasta with Squash & Tomato Sauce

The butternut squash used in this popular dish is frequently grown at Green Lane Farm in Kent by Dickie Ovenden.

Supporting Local Growers

Much of our fresh produce is supplied by Foodart, a Canterbury-based produce specialist serving London and the South East.

Foodart prioritises local and seasonal produce wherever possible, helping to reduce food miles and support British growers. Around 55% of their suppliers are based in Kent, with a further 20% located elsewhere in the UK, depending on the season.

Sourcing locally means produce reaches our kitchens quicker, arriving fresher and with fewer transport-related emissions.

Quality British Meat

British produce plays a vital role in the meals we serve to children every day. At Pabulum, we are proud to source Red Tractor assured beef and chicken ensuring it's British and produced to high standards of animal welfare, food safety, responsible production and traceability.

As the UK's largest food and farming assurance scheme, and Love British Food's Lead Assurance Partner for 2026, Red Tractor provides confidence that the beef and chicken on pupils' plates has been independently verified and is fully traceable back to British farms.

Our meat is supplied by British Premium Meats, based in Welwyn Garden City. Working with suppliers who share our commitment to quality British produce allows us to support British farmers and food producers while delivering nutritious, balanced meals to school children across the country.

Did You Know?

The same supplier that helps provide fresh fruit and vegetables for our school meals has been awarded a Royal Warrant by His Majesty King Charles III.

That means many of the vegetables featured in our roast dinners, seasonal sides and pasta dishes come through a supplier trusted by the Royal Household, making our produce quite literally fit for royalty!

Our Commitment to Good Food

All Pabulum primary school menus have achieved the Bronze Food for Life Award.

This recognises our commitment to:

- Using seasonal ingredients where possible
- Sourcing meat that can be traced back to the farm
- Working with local suppliers
- Preparing at least 75% of meals fresh on site each day

From Farm to Fork

This British Food Fortnight, we're proud to celebrate the farmers, growers, suppliers and catering teams behind every school meal. By choosing seasonal ingredients and supporting British agriculture, we're helping pupils enjoy fresh, nutritious food while learning more about where it comes from. We look forward to sharing the best of British produce with our pupils throughout the fortnight.
